PROFILE

Thoo has an active practice in complex dispute resolution. He is actively engaged in trial and appellate advocacy at all levels of the Malaysian Courts and regularly appears as counsel in various briefs. He routinely advises individuals and body corporates in a wide area of disputes including banking and hire purchase, debt recovery, employment and industrial relations, contractual disputes in relation to properties, family matters, constitutional issues, tort, defamation and public interest litigations.

He has represented a developer in an application for judicial review as its lead counsel whereby he has successfully presented on the issue of delivery of vacant possession, departing from the Faber Union case which the Court upheld accordingly.

He has successfully assisted and represented individual land owners whose lands were acquired in their seeking of a fair compensation award. Thoo's area of practice encompasses charitable trust involving temples and accidents and personal injury claims.
